

From the Spring 2002 Newsletter
QUESTION OF THE MONTH

The Best Practices article in this issue examines the VA National Formulary system as a model for ethical resource allocation decisions in managed care contexts. Ethical allocation decisions require a complex balancing of interests to meet patient needs and ensure fairness.

Do you believe that the current National Formulary system succeeds in meeting the ethical and practical needs of patient care?

YES NO