Ethics Consultation
Beyond the Basics
Module 6

Getting Off to the Right Start in a Formal Ethics Consultation Meeting
Learning Objectives

• Understand the importance of the right start to a formal ethics consultation meeting.
• Plan and prepare for a formal meeting.
• Identify improvement opportunities in starting a meeting (self-assessment).
• Describe the ethics consultant’s role.
SYNTHESIZE the Information

Determine whether a formal meeting is needed
Engage in ethical analysis
Identify the ethically appropriate decision maker
Facilitate moral deliberation among ethically justifiable options
1. Read Case History and Cast of Characters (pages 2 and 3 on handout).
2. Take your positions.
3. “Action.”
Discussion: A Critical Review of the Meeting
Planning

1. Determine if a formal meeting is needed.

Criteria
- Parties are not confident they have been heard.
- Parties don’t understand others’ points of view.
- Many different parties are involved.

Considerations
- Will it delay the process?
- Will it be efficient?
- Will participants voice their points of view?
- Do you have all the facts you need?
Planning

Once you have determined to hold a formal meeting:

2. Set goals.
3. Select participants.
4. Contact key participants.
5. Schedule meeting; invite all participants.
Preparation

• Review your notes.
• Practice introducing yourself as the ethics consultant.
• Anticipate questions and how you might address them.

“Elevator Speech”
Individually
1. Develop first draft of elevator speech.
2. Try out speech silently, and time it.

In groups of 4 or 5
1. Assign timekeeper.
2. Read speeches in turn—no critique.
3. Discuss what worked well in speeches.
4. Rework individual speeches. Adapt or adopt from others.
5. Choose volunteer to share with large group.
Dr. Paula Pierce takes control of the meeting.

- Who will play Sonia? (confused)
- Who will play Lamar? (mouthy teenager)
